About You

We recognise that health care providers in Australia face particular challenges:

- Consistently increasing demand for services.
- Limited funding.
- Fast-paced development of health technologies.
- Underperforming legacy systems.

How We Can Help

Our procurement experience in the health care field incorporates, for example, pharmaceuticals, construction and fit out, medical supplies, and information, communication & technology.

We offer a complete range of specialist procurement services and can support clients with:

- Strategy development.
- Capability assessments.
- Procurement transformation.
- Benefits realisation.
- Training.

We have also demonstrated exceptional value by undertaking a project delivery function. To this end, we can drive the best possible outcomes with activities such as strategic procurement planning, market engagement, contract drafting, negotiations and awards.

In addition to the above, we deliver specialist probity advice to maintain impartiality and defensibility of procurement processes. Probity advisory services manage risks of non-compliance and invariably support achievement of client objectives.
